Care as a lens on social inequalities and transformations

By Megha Amrith. This post reflects on care as a central global sociological concern, reflective of global interconnections and enduring inequalities.